A FEW WORDS FROM YOURS TRULY

Welcome to the very first issue of Lavernoich's Lounge – a new creative venture with a somewhat old title. (Those who've followed me on the Internet for nearly the past twenty years – at least those with long memories – will truly understand what I mean.)

For those of you who've followed my career for the past quarter-century-plus (and not just on the Internet) – as well as those who haven't: I've already written five books, including the first two Chameleons, Inc. novels, as well as various short stories and articles that've been published both in print and on the Internet (and there are several sections of my newsletter devoted to my literary efforts). I also maintain a trio of websites on the Internet – including my official website and my Pictures Shop site where you can purchase some of my artistic efforts (and there's a section of my newsletter devoted to yours truly on the Internet, including my pages on Facebook, Twitter, etc.). I also have my own YouTube Channel, which I use to help promote my creative efforts (and I've just completed my three newest videos, which should be already uploaded and displayed on YouTube by the time you get this premiere issue); in the near-future, I plan to use my YouTube Channel to go beyond just spotlighting promotional videos.

This debut issue is – more or less – a chance for you to get to know me and my creative efforts a bit better, which will encourage you to check out (and maybe purchase) my wares, which certainly counts as a sales pitch (even if you do have to compete with everyone else in order to draw attention to what you have to offer). Future issues of Lavernoich's Lounge will give you the latest news – and not just about my current creative efforts – as well as a few surprises that will no doubt interest and intrigue you. (Consider that a subtle clue to what you can expect in the near-future.) And if you're wondering why you're reading Lavernoich's Lounge in PDF format – well, that's one of the many wonders of modern technology (that, plus the fact that the PDF format is – more or less – interactive). As for a print version of Lavernoich's Lounge – well, let's see how successful the PDF version is (and after all, producing it that way is far more sensible, at least from an economic standpoint).

So, to paraphrase the immortal Bugs Bunny – on with the newsletter, this is it. I hope you like and appreciate my efforts (and you can contact me at jlavernoich2008@hotmail.com and let me know what you like – or don't like – about Lavernoich's Lounge, as well as how to improve it).

SOME BRIEF INFO ...!

In the late-1990's, I wrote the script for Code Name: Chameleons, an unsold TV-movie script which introduced Chameleons, Inc., the female group of detectives who take on the most unusual cases (think Charlie's Angels meets Wonder Woman and The Twilight Zone [or The Outer Limits]). In 2001, I decided to turn my TV-movie script into a prose novel which was published by iUniverse in 2002.

It wouldn't be until late-2009 and early-2010, that the second Chameleons, Inc. novel, Chameleons To The Rescue, was published by Lulu Books. And if those paragraphs have further increased your curiosity about Chameleons, Inc. (and they should) – just follow this simple instruction sandwiched between those two arrows:

In case you're interested, a third Chameleons, Inc. is definitely in the works – and yes, the plot for it's already brewing in my mind. (More on that in future issues – not to mention the official Chameleons, Inc. website!) In the meantime, to check out the screenplay for a possible feature film adaptation of Code Name: Chameleons, written by yours truly (all the more reason for you to help drum up support for the movie itself and help make it a reality), please click here! And if that isn't all, click on the following image link below this very paragraph:

THE BEYOND THE UNKNOWN™ BAILWICK

THE LATEST NEWS ON BEYOND THE UNKNOWN

SOME BACKGROUND INFO:

Beyond The Unknown was my fourth published book (released last year) – and my second short story collection. (Not to mention my second book published in E-book format only.) Beyond The Unknown – which consists of three science fiction and fantasy tales – was inspired in part by The Twilight Zone, one of my all-time favorite TV shows (created and hosted by Rod Serling, one of my all-time favorite writers who was – and still is – a key influence on my writing career). To learn more about Beyond The Unknown – including how it came to be – just follow the instructions (and arrows) below this very paragraph:

-- click on the cover below!

And that's just the beginning – there are also plans for create not only a comic book version of Beyond The Unknown (with yours truly writing some scripts for it), but also a weekly TV series (which I hope to produce as well as write some scripts for it). And I'm seriously considering spinning off Beyond The Unknown into its own official website. More news on the aforementioned items – plus lots more – on not only my official website, but also Beyond The Unknown's Facebook page (and to go there, click on the image link below this very paragraph):

ARTIST'S ALLEY

Drawings, photographs & other visual goodies

For the past few years, I've had my Pictures Shop website, where you can not only purchase original drawings (either regular pencil-and-ink or digital) made to your specifications (as long as they're not offensive, overly-political or controversial), but also reproductions of past drawings and specialty photographs from my Artist's Gallery page on Fine Art America's website – including:

EVENING SUNSET
One of my drawings

AQUALUNG
Another of my drawings

I'll be adding new drawings and photographs to my Fine Art America Artist's Gallery in the weeks and months – not to mention adding any new items to my Pictures Shop website. So, here's the link to my Pictures Shop website:

VIDEO VILLA

The latest YouTube video news

Since 2010, I've uploaded videos on YouTube in order to promote my creative efforts, as well as giving some background info on yours truly (not to mention a surprise or two); actually, the YouTube account that I currently have is my second. (I've also uploaded some videos on my Facebook page that are of a more personal nature – but that's another story for another time.)

TO VISIT MY YOUTUBE PAGE,

There, you'll view some of my YouTube videos from the past few years, including my most recent, which promotes the very newsletter that you're reading right now – not to mention some of my favorite YouTube videos that'll entertain and surprise you. By the time you get this newsletter, I'll already have uploaded several more videos on YouTube's website – with some of them promoting the audio version of Memories Of My Youth – more on them in the next issue.

And I'm seriously considering doing more than uploading promotional videos on YouTube – like say, a possible weekly TV series which'll involve my vast knowledge of pop culture. (Of course, if you've got some suggestions that might be helpful in making it a reality, you can contact me at jlavernoich2008@hotmail.com.)
