A FEW WORDS FROM YOURS TRULY

Hello – and welcome to #10 of Lavernoich's Lounge. As I write this, Super Bowl LIII's over six hours away – something that doesn't mean much to yours truly (which proves how much the sport of football has evolved in over the past century – and not really for the better). However, talking about a sports event that I now consider both overhyped and overrated isn't the purpose of this little monologue.

In case you're wondering what I've been doing, I've already started work on my next book, The Janus Terror. (As for how far I've come – please visit Page#5 of this very issue for more info.) Of course, The Janus Terror's not the only creative project occupying most of my attention – as you'll find out in the pages ahead (not to mention on the Internet – consider that a strong hint to check out my wares).

I'd write more – but I'd better let this issue of Lavernoich's Lounge do the explaining, with the feverent hope that you'll actually check out and – just as important – purchase some of my creative efforts. (Hey, even independent authors/artists like myself deserve much more attention than – say, the latest and boring edition of The Bachelor, which isn't doing much for the concept of marriage.)

Hope you enjoy this issue – and keep on web surfin'! (Not to mention avoiding certain TV commercials featuring a certain gecko who's long worn out his welcome – and which weren't very funny to begin with!)
