A FEW WORDS FROM YOURS TRULY

As I write this, the next few days of my life'll be very busy – including seeing my youngest niece and her college classmates perform live at Lincoln Center in New York City (or New York, NY – take your pick). Even so, I haven't neglected my creative projects – the cover of this very issue should give you a good idea of what I've been doing lately.

Hopefully, after the beginning of next week, the hectic pace of my life will somewhat slow down in time for my 54th birthday on May 11th. Fortunately, I'm not neglecting my creative projects – including my latest novel-in-the-works, THE JANUS TERROR – not to mention a short story which I hope to finish and have published in the next week or two.

And that's not all I plan to do – as you'll find out while looking over the rest of this very issue. (A hint to those reading this issue – some of my wares that are spotlighted on the following pages make great gifts. And Mother's Day's only a few weeks away!)

I'd write a bit more – but as I stated earlier, the next few days are gonna be very busy for yours truly. So please enjoy the latest issue of LAVERNOICH'S LOUNGE – and if you've got any suggestions for actually adding on to and/or improving this newsletter, you can contact yours truly at jlavernoich2008@hotmail.com.
