A FEW WORDS FROM YOURS TRULY

As I write this, not only is 2019 a few days away from ending, but also this decade. Needless to say, this year has been somewhat busy and interesting for yours truly -- and not just from a creative standpoint.

As the new decade's about to begin, I've got a lot to focus on -- including finishing writing my current book THE JANUS TERROR, which I had hoped to complete and publish in time for this past Christmas (and for a further explanation of what I've just mentioned, please visit the BOOK BUNGALOW section in this issue.

As one decade ends, and another begins -- I deeply hope (and so do you who are no doubt reading this) that the next ten years'll definitely be better, given the fact that 2020 is an election year, with a certain U.S. President currently occupying the White House ending up forced out of office (and -- hopefully -- into a prison cell for the rest of his natural-born life). Which oughta be a sign to everybody that Reality TV does nobody any good, including those politicians currently operating in Washington, D.C.

As usual, I hope that you enjoy this issue of LAVERNOICH'S LOUNGE -- and equally important, I hope that you check out (and actually purchase) some of my creative wares. In point of fact, please support us independent talents, and not just in literature. In the meantime -- HAPPY NEW YEAR. (And please -- never use Reality TV to advance your career ambitions, not even in politics. Just ask anyone who voted a certain Republican candidate into the White House almost four years ago who's already regretting it.)
