A FEW WORDS FROM YOURS TRULY

Hello – and welcome to the latest issue of LAVERNOICH'S LOUNGE, which is designed to help promote what I have to offer creatively; the cover to this issue alone offers a hint to what I'm offering (and which I hope you'll give a try).

There's little doubt that last year was difficult for practically the entire world – those of you keeping up with the news reports will understand what I mean. Luckily, this year (and beyond) will be a bit easier to deal with – considering the scientific and medical breakthroughs that've popped up with in the year (and as I write this, I've already gotten the first of my two COVID-19 vaccines in the last day or two). The world has greatly changed since the new century's started – and attempting to return things to what they were before both 9/11 and COVID-19 is, in many ways, impossible. That's something that someone in my chosen professions can't accomplish – and I'm definitely not going to try. (And the chances of someone actually inventing a time machine in the near future are definitely slim.)

But life – and time – does march on. And while we know that moving towards the future isn't going to be easy – all of us can do our part to help it more a bit more bearable. After all, a lot's been accomplished throughout recorded history, as far as moving humanity forward's concerned – and there's no reason why we should cease to do so. By facing the future with both courage and wisdom, we – and future generations – will be all the better for it.
